- b) use a Reference Interest Rate that meets the definition of a Benchmark as defined in the Benchmarks Regulation; and
- c) provided no specific provisions on determining a Replacement Reference Interest Rate are specified in the Contract or in the Special Terms and Conditions of the Contract.

In the event that there arises a situation where:

- (i) the Reference Interest Rate becomes permanently unavailable (e.g. the Reference Interest Rate ceases to exist), or
- (ii) use of the Reference Interest Rate becomes unlawful (e.g. the administrator of the Reference Interest Rate withdraws its application for a licence to use the Reference Interest Rate; or the Reference Interest Rate or its administrator is removed from the relevant register maintained by ESMA); or

- (iii) the methodology for calculating the Reference Interest Rate fundamentally changes pursuant to the Benchmarks Regulation, in terms of its administrator's perspective (e.g. the geographic, economic, or sectoral scope of the Reference Interest Rate changes significantly); or
- (iv) if the competent supervisory authorities declare that the Reference Interest Rate no longer has indicative value, the original Reference Interest Rate (hereinafter the "Original Reference Interest Rate") shall be replaced by another Reference Interest Rate (hereinafter the "Replacement Reference Interest Rate").

For the avoidance of doubt, and unless otherwise agreed in the Contract, where such Contract states a 1-, 2-, 3-, 4-, 5-, 6-, 7-, 8-, 9-, or 10-year interest rate swap, this shall be deemed to be the Reference Interest Rate in the following order 1Y, 2Y, 3Y, 4Y, 5Y, 6Y, 7Y, 8Y, 9Y or 10Y ICE Swap Rate EUR 1100 administered by ICE Benchmark Administration Limited, which is listed in the relevant register maintained by ESMA, or the Reference Interest Rate stated in the respective ESMA register. This refinement shall not constitute a change in interest accrual or a replacement of the interest rate.

- 7.7 If the Contract is not deemed a financial contract pursuant to the Benchmarks Regulation, and concurrently the Contract uses a Reference Interest Rate (including for the calculation of default interest, if any), and if no provisions for determining the Replacement Reference Interest Rate are specified in the Contract or in the Special Terms and Conditions of the Contract, then for situations under sub-clauses (i) to (iv) of Clause 7.6 of these GBC above, the procedures subsequently set out in this Clause 7.6 of these GBC shall apply accordingly, and such change to the Contract shall be effective for the Client even without the Client’s consent.
